

DEMOCRAT SENATOR BOLTS PARTY IN VOTE ON VETO

One Democratic Senator Bolts His Party Leaders and Most Anything Is Now Expected in Last Days of the General Assembly.

Frankfort, Ky., March 14. — When Senator Walter G. Dyeus, a Democrat from Marshall county, rose at his seat Monday, during the voting on the attempt to override Governor Morrow's veto of the Watkins bill and illiterate voter bill, and began an explanation, few of the persons present knew that he was going to vote with the Republicans against the effort, but he did. As a consequence, the ballot stood 19 to 18, falling one short of the constitutional majority required to upset an executive disapproval. While Senator W. A. Perry, Democratic floor leader, was able to rescue the bill, and hold it up for possible future passage, it is certainly dead unless Senator Dyeus should be persuaded to change his mind.

Two years ago, when the Senate was divided as it now is, twenty Democrats and eighteen Republicans, one Democrat, Senator Burton, of Grant county, began voting with the Republicans, and as a consequence they obtained control of the legislature. The loss of Senator Dyeus, with the division the same, not only defeats the illiterate voter measure, but it also endangers the much more essential statewide registration bill, the veto of which by the governor is expected today.

The defection of Senator Dyeus also greatly complicates the situation with respect to the Moss-Meyers $50,000,000 road bond submission bill, action on which was looked for today, due to the decision of the Democrats, in party caucus, to bring the bill up for consideration. Passage of this bill had been expected, but the defection into the Senate of a party break means that anything is now possible, and it may mean that the Democrats will decide to put this measure on the shelf.

THIRD SUIT FOLLOWING ACCIDENT IS BEGUN

Hearing of Damage Suit of Dr. R. H. Stevenson Against Traction Company Is Begun at Lexington.

Lexington, Ky., March 14. — Trial of the damage suit brought by Dr. R. H. Stevenson against the Kentucky Traction and Terminal company for $10,000 for injuries sustained in an automobile-traction car smash was begun in circuit court Monday. The case occupied the entire time of the court Monday and it is believed that it will not be completed until Wednesday. The Stevenson case is the first to be taken up at the regular civil term of court which opened Monday to remain in session for possibly three weeks.

The suit is the outgrowth of an accident on the Georgetown pike October 2, 1920. An automobile in which Dr. Stevenson and several other persons were riding was struck by an interurban car and Dr. Stevenson seriously injured and two other passengers, Mrs. Judith A. Rice and Mrs. W. G. Craig, were killed.

DATES ARE FIXED FOR CAMP-MEETING; INSTITUTE PLANNED

Interesting Meeting of the Board of Directors of the Ruggles Camp-Meeting Association Is Held in Maysville on Tuesday.

The spring meeting of the Board of Directors of Ruggles Campmeeting Association met Tuesday morning at the Third Street M. E. church. Those present were District Superintendents S. K. Hunt, of Ashland, and J. M. Lital, of Covington, Revs. A. F. Feita, of Vanceburg, N. G. Griswold, of Toltlesboro, E. V. Cole, of East Maysville, and laymen Col. W. D. Hendrickson, of Vanceburg, J. R. Hinton, of Epworth, and J. H. Richardson of this city. In the absence of the president, John R. Brodt, who with Mrs. Brodt, are at West Union attending a funeral, S. K. Hunt was chosen chairman of the meeting. The secretary, Rev. W. S. Peters, being detained because of illness, J. H. Richardson was chosen to act in his place. One other member, Mr. G. N. Hrding, was also absent because of illness.

Dr. John Lowe Fort, of Trinity M. E. church, Louisville, who was made dean of the Euworth League Institute to be held in connection with the next campmeeting was here Monday in consultation with Rev. Peters, manager of the institute and Rev. Hunt who was appointed by the conference to arrange for the institute. Their recommendations were placed before the Board of Directors at Tuesday morning's meeting and unanimously adopted. While the program for the institute is as yet incomplete yet it can be safely announced that it calls for some of the best talent in Methodism for the carrying forth of the institute during the campmeeting. This part of the campmeeting will be held from Monday till Saturday of the second week of the campmeeting. The greatest change to be made in the regular campmeeting program will be the occupation of all the morning hours with the various features of the institute. The whole afternoon will be given over to recreation under the direction of an expert recreational director. The first three week days and both Sundays will be conducted as in the past. The evangelist and Sunday preachers are yet to be secured. However, Superintendent Hunt said he could almost guarantee that Bishop Wm. F. Anderson would give the camp a visit on the last Sunday.

In order to take care of the increased number of campers that will be drawn hither by the institute the Board of Directors retains the twelve best rooms in the hotel and will secure tents for all other who come. Superintendent Lital announced that the Conference Board of Education would give $25.00 toward the publicity fund for the institute.

Rev. T. B. Ashley as musical director and Miss Juanita Richardson as accompanist for both campmeeting and institute sessions were chosen. Col. W. D. Hendrickson, of Vanceburg, expert on keeping good order, will again be chief police officer. It was the sense of the board of directors that the offering to the campers of the unexcelled opportunities for such help as has never been offered within the bounds of the Kentucky Conference before, will make of Ruggles Campmeeting a training center for young people that will do more to popularize the campmeeting than anything yet attempted. The dates for the campmeeting and institute will be Thursday, July 27th, to Sunday, August 6th. Young people of any denomination can attend. Plans for such a profitable outing and vacation should be made early. All communications and inquiries for information about either campmeeting or Epworth League Institute should be addressed to Rev. W. S. Peters, Maysville, Ky.

GUN KILLS SECOND GUARD IN ACCIDENT AT NEWPORT

State Guard Killed When Gun Which Had Killed Another Guard Fell From Hand of Comrade.

Frank Crone, 20 years old, 509 Russell street, Covington, a private in the Thirty-eighth Tank Company, Kentucky National Guards, stationed at the Newport Rolling Mills, was shot accidentally and instantly killed early Monday night when one of his comrades dropped his automatic pistol on a stove and the weapon exploded. The bullet entered Crone's head just above the left eye and the man was pronounced dead upon arrival at Speers Hospital.

The accident took place in the guardhouse at the mill.

According to witnesses, the shot which killed Crone came from a weapon belonging to John Yates, 20 years old, Brighton street, Newport, a private in the same company with Crone. Yates was coming off guard duty and Crone was about to go on. Yates was twirling his pistol about his finger by means of the trigger guard when suddenly the weapon fell out of his hand and dropped on the guardhouse stove.

The report followed and Crone fell to the ground.

A peculiar feature of the accident is that the gun which killed Crone is the same that figured in a similar accident at the Newport Rolling Mill on Christmas Eve. At that time Sergeant Charles Black, Barbourville, Ky., knocked the weapon out of his own holster so that it fell on the ground and was discharged, theball entering the abdomen of Corporal Robert Deaton, 19 years old, also of Barbourville. Deaton died a few hours later.

COUNTRY-WIDE COAL STRIKE SEEMS NOW ALMOST CERTAIN

Operators Stand Firm in Their Refusal to Meet Union Workers' Representatives Despite Efforts of Secretary of Labor.

Washington, March 14.—Little hope of averting a strike in the unionized bituminous coal fields April 1 was held out today in those official circles which are most concerned with the repeated Government attempts to bring about an adjustment of wage agreement differences.

Mine operators, it was declared, were continuing in their refusal to enter a conference with the United Mine Workers looking to the creation of a new wage contract for the central competitive field, notwithstanding representations made to them by James J. Davis, secretary of Labor, who holds that existing contracts require them at least to enter negotiations regardless of whether such negotiations are carried to completion.

The United Mine Workers of America, the general union organization, was declared to be entirely willing to enter a conference, although insisting on the maintenance of existing wage scales, which were adopted in 1920. The employers are demanding a reduction, amounting to 20 per cent or more.

It was indicated in official circles today that the Government would go no further at present, but await the development of the threatened strike. The degree of possible Government intervention later, it was said by a high official would be determined by the degree to which the strike if it developed, might affect adversely the public welfare.

Statistics assembled for the Labor Department indicate that 65,000,000 tons of coal are now in storage, approximately a ten weeks' supply for the entire country, that this amount is rapidly being augmented, and that nonunion production is tending to increase.

Local agreements between the union and operators are also expected to go into effect on or before April 1, which would insure maintenance of further operations.

MORRIS-CHAIR ADVENTURER ROASTS WASHINGTON

Discrediting American heroes seems to be the chief joy not only of foreign but many American writers. One of the latest illustrations of this is seen in the statement of H. G. Wells that George Washington was indolent.

Now let's look at the record a little. Washington although of a family that could have maintained him in idleness, trained himself as a surveyor, an occupation that required outdoor life and no small degree of exertion, since it called for travel on foot through a wilderness. He surveyed nearly all the estates in his neighborhood and some large grants of land for up the Potomac—in a region uninhabited by whites. Washington trained himself for military service—not exactly the task of an indolent man. He led expeditions against the Indians and, because of his personal activity, was the means of saving part of the troops which Braddock had so unskillfully led in the expedition against the French and Indians on the Monongahela. He spent three years defending the frontier against the French and Indians. In his later years Washington took personal charge of the management of his plantations, not particularly a lazy man's job.

Thus we see that Washington was not physically indolent. When we consider his mental activities, we reach a similar conclusion. He became a member of the House of Burgesses of Virginia and planned and wrote the non-importation resolution and other measures that shaped the policy of resistance to British oppression. He was a member of the First Continental Congress, was a leader in the movement for American independence, by his personal influence kept his armies together when his men were without pay or sufficient food or clothes, suppressed a secret effort to overthrow the Continental government, was chosen a delegate to the Constitutional Convention and was unanimously chosen its president. His personal activity often brought harmony in the convention and his voice and pen were a large influence in securing the ratification of the Constitution. He served as President of the new United States during the most difficult period of its history when he was confronted by the task of creating harmony at home and preserving peace in our foreign relations.

These are only a few well-known facts in his career as a leader of public thought and action—a leadership that could not possibly have been conducted by a man mentally indolent.

It might be sufficient reply to Wells to remark that if Washington was a lazy man, England would have been fortunate to have her military and civil affairs men who were affected with the same sort of indolence.

RECORD IS RIGHT

All of the assertions of Democratic Chairman Hull and of other spokesmen for the opposition party cannot affect the main facts of republican constructivism during the period of less than one year that the party has been in control of the executive and legislative branches of the government.

The republican party assumed responsibility for the government and its departments which had been expanded beyond all reason with the war as the excuse. It promised to reduce expenses and cut down taxation. It has done both and done them quickly. It has shrunk the Washington payroll until the democratic job hunters who revelled on the banks of the Potomac for eight years turned their eyes heavenward and shed bitter tears.

The party has done as much for the farmers as it can do without turning the federal treasury over to them. It has been fair to labor, but it has not mined and japed before Samuel Gompers as did the former administration; nor mill it. Nor must it. It will conclude the tariff as soon as the condition of European currencies permits. With the money of some of our chief competitors depreciated a thousand times framing an equitable tariff is not a boy's job. It has brought off the arms limitation conference successfully.

It is willing to pass a soldiers' bonus bill if it appears that is what the country wants. We invite and encourage the exponents of Wilson, Cox, McAdoo, Taggart, Murphy, Brennan and Bryan to attack.

CHANCE FOR AN INVENTOR.

Certain Democratic Senators would be delighted if some one would invent a good reason for voting against the treaties.—From the Washington Post.

In short, this being a representative government, those who wrote the Constitution saw to it that nothing could be done by any officer or department of the government that was not subject to final supervision and control by that branch of the government which represented the people, namely: the legislative branch. To have it any other way, to have it that the President, or the Secretary of States, or a commission could bind the United States government and its people in any kind of contract with a foreign nation would be equivalent to transforming this republic into an absolute monarchy—a veritable one-man government, in which the people had no voice and the legislative branch of the government had no choice except meekly to carry out the mandates of the executive. It is shocking to those who constituted the regime of former President Wilson that such a state of affairs cannot be brought about, for that is the kind of government which Wilson attempted to set up. But the fact that it is shocking to that class of Wilson idolaters is no legitimate excuse why they should constantly misrepresent the facts by persistent insistence that foreign governments are at a loss to understand why the United States Senate is an independent body, free to accept or reject any treaty which the executive may make. The thing that shocked foreign governments in connection with the Paris peace conference was not the sudden acquisition of knowledge that the United States Senate had to pass upon the treaty but the realization that President Wilson had wilfully and grossly misrepresented the sentiment of the people of the United States to them and had led them to believe that the people were back of him, rather than back of the United States Senate, which had already served notice upon him and upon them that it would not ratify any treaty which contained the covenant of the League of Nations.—National Republican.

U. S. FINDS WAY TO HALT LIQUOR FRAUDS.

"Forgeries and alterations of liquor withdrawal permits must be stopped," says Prohibition Director Haynes.

And stopped they will be, for the Government has just adopted a means of protection that is expected to thoroughly choke off wholesale liquor frauds by permit-juggling.

The liquor permit swindler for many months has been as much of an annoyance to Federal Prohibition Enforcement Agents as check swindlers for years have been to banks and depositors.

Permits have been altered after leaving official hands to the extent of hundreds of thousands of dollars. The practice has been one of the most easily penetrated loopholes for the crafty bootlegger.

In a desperate effort to circumvent the clever bootlegging swindlers, Government officials recently conducted a lengthy investigation into the merits of scores of plans and contrivances to thwart license alteration.

At last the Prohibition Enforcement Service has found a solution of the problem that promises to block license forgeries. This is the employment of

I was troubled with inflammation of the bladder and annoyance from my kidneys. When passing the secretions they burned terribly and often bordered on a stoppage. I had severe aching pains across the small of my back which greatly interfered with my duties. I was telling a friend how my kidneys acted and he advised me to get a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Wood & Son's Drug Store. I began taking Doan's and they gave me prompt relief. Doan's did me lots of good and I know they are an excellent remedy."

Mr. Dreese gave the above statement February 6, 1928, and on November 22, 1929, he added: "I think just as highly of Doan's Kidney Pills today as I did when I gave my former recommendation many years ago. special permit-writing machines. Half a hundred of these have just been made for the use of issuers of liquor withdrawal permits.

These machines, while ingenious and thoroughly efficient, are small and simple in operation. They resemble a check protector made by the same manufacturer and employ the most modern protective principles of the safest possible check writer. The company making these devices for the Government has guaranteed not to manufacture any other machines of exactly the same type.

The words of the text stamped by the machines on the permits are diagonal. This permits writing more words on each line than any other machine can do, and prevents the insertion of interlinear words, which has been a common practice among permit forgers. The most important feature of the machine, however, is that the amount of liquor to be withdrawn is perforated entirely through the paper and also macerated, all in one operation. Alteration of permits is as impossible as alteration of checks written with the same machine.

PROTECTS FROM FINANCIAL CROOKS.

"The Georgia Securities Law" is the title of a most comprehensive article by S. B. Blodgett, vice president of the Robinson-Humphrey Company, municipal and corporation bonds, Atlanta, Ga., which appears in the current issue of The Southern Banker published in that city.

Mr. Blodgett explains that the Georgia Securities Commission was created to "prevent illegitimate practices, to investigate all investment securities and dealers in the state and to prosecute all violators of the law." The article explains in detail the working of the Commission and emphasizes the need of it which developed because of the growing operations of "crooks and unknown individuals purporting to represent all kinds of get-rich-quick schemes." The article is a distinctly valuable contribution to financial literature and is also a clear cut explanation of how Georgia protects her people from financial swindling.

New York
Letter

by Lucy Jeanné Price

New York. — Two or three weeks ago a girl wrote an article for a New York Sunday paper telling her troubles when she found herself broke and jobless in New York City. The other day she wrote another one; recanting every word she had said reflecting on our city's sympathy, generosity, and interest in the welfare of its neighbors. "All you have to do in New York," she avers, "is to let people know you are in difficulties and whole crowds of them rush to help you; some, perhaps, out of curiosity, but most of them out of sheer wholeheartedness. The only reason anyone ever thinks this city is cold is because he is bluffing himself." The great majority of Gotham's critics would have their criticism disproved just as completely as this if they would give the city a chance.

Manhattan's first woman pastor was ordained the other evening. It is Miss Helen Ulrich, who will serve as assistant to the Rev. Joseph Fort Newson of the Church of the Divine Paternity. It is a relief to discover that Miss Ulrich is not all agitated about "this awful generation." "Why does everybody ask me about the flapper?" she said. "The flapper herself isn't half as big a problem as the talk about the flapper. Young people are the same at heart as they were fifty years ago, and flappers are just the same as any young girls. And I'm not rabid on the subject of women smoking. There are many worse things in the world to be combatted. I don't smoke myself, but I should feel that if women should stop, men should do so as well."

Charles Burchette, who lives in the safe and sane uptown regions of Manhattan Island, had heard of the wildness of Greenwich Village, that district south of Fourteenth street, where there are more art palettes and bobbed heads to the square block than anywhere else in the country. He had planned for a long time to plunge into its depths and explore its dangers. And like a traveler, he placed a pistol carefully in his hip pocket. Then he went down into the candle-lighted cellar tea-rooms, where he could gaze sorrowfully at the wicked faces of the other up-towners-looking-for-wickedness. An argument with a taxi-driver brought forth the pistol and poor Charles was taken to jail by a policeman who simply refused to understand that a weapon was only normal preparation for such an exploration.

Life is very confusing. Down in front of the restaurant run by the Rand school of Social Science — a thoroughly Socialistic institution — strike pickets have been interfering with the brotherhoodly atmosphere of the block. Yes, a strike in the Rand School's own restaurant! It seems that under pure socialistic regime the restaurant was showing a deficit. So a professional restaurant-keeper was employed to take hold. He, it seems, is a cold-blooded Democrat and not a Socialist at all. He put the pence on a business basis — which was quite too much for the waiters to stand. The pickets were jailed the other night, but the problem of adjusting the business temperament of a Manhattan

Democrat and the restaurant theories of a Socialist has not yet been solved.

JUDGE LANDIS QUITS
BENCH IN STYLE THAT HAS MADE HIM FAMOUS

Regretted Justice Meted Out By Most Famous Federal Judge Who Leaves
Bench to Become Supreme Arbitrator of Baseball.

A Chicago dispatch says: Kenesaw Mountain Landis completed his seventeen years of service as federal judge for the northern district of Illinois and at 11 o'clock rendered his last decision and stepped from the court room with the announcement that he never again would occupy the judicial bench.

His resignation, recently sent to President Harding, became effective Wednesday, March 1.

Judge Landis wound up his court career by disposing of ten cases in rapid fire order. His last decision sentenced a man to 30 days in jail for violating the prohibition laws, and previously he had rendered decisions ranging from a fine of one cent to a year in prison. He conducted his final court in his characteristic fashion, taking cases away from lawyers to conduct them, personally, laughing, kidding, storming and fuming. In the words of a court attendant, he was "1,000 per cent. Landis."

After the final sentence Judge Landis said:

"Mr. Bailiff, are there any more cases?"

"None, your honor," was the reply.

"Court," began the judge. He arose and for several seconds looked around the room. Then he continued:

"—is adjourned."

The judge was particularly hard on Volstead act violators during his final version. In one case the attorney said:

"Your honor, the case here is the alleged sale of two glasses of whisky."

"You mean the pretended sale of two glasses of alleged whisky," interrupted the judge. "One year and $1,000 for the alleged matter."

Two alleged tax dodgers were brought before the judge and after a few questions the judge announced:

"I'll fine you one cent" — to one defendant — "because you seem to want to pay your taxes, but lack the means." To the other he said: "I fine you $5,000 because you seem to have the means, but lack the desire to pay."

The judge walked across the street to the little lunch counter where he has eaten the midday meal for 17 years.

"Swiss on rye and milk the cow for the government," shouted the waitress as he entered, and a moment later the judge was sitting on a high stool eating his usual noon repast—a Swiss cheese sandwich on rye bread and a glass of milk.

EARLY APRIL BEST TIME TO SEED SWEET POTATOES

Lexington, Ky., March 4.—Sweet potatoes, one of the main crops in Kentucky, are best bedded for plants during the first ten days in April, the most favorable date for bedding being somewhat earlier in the western than in the eastern part of the State, according to A. J. Olney, horticulturist at the College of Agriculture. The State produces about two million bushels of the crop each year.

Better plants usually are obtained by using a hot bed of some kind although many plants are grown without this aid. An eight to ten inch layer of horse manure covered with about four or five inches of soil, preferably pure sand rather than garden soil, gives good results in the bed.

Planting healthy seed, that has previously been treated, in soil that is known to be free from black rot, scurf and other sweet potato diseases is the only method of controlling these, the suggestions point out. The seed may be treated easily by placing it in a bag or basket and inserting this into a wooden tub or barrel containing a mixture of one part of corrosive sublimate or bichloride of mercury and seven and one-half gallons of water. At the end of five or ten minutes the potatoes should be removed and rinsed off in a tub of water after which they should be spread out to dry. The same solution can be used three times, four ounces of the corrosive sublimate being enough to treat from six to ten bushels of seed. Precautions are necessary in handling this material as it is deadly poison.

Disease free soil can be secured for the plant bed from a field that has not grown sweet potatoes for at least six years. Fields that are known to be infected with the diseases are not safe places in which to plant the crop for from four to six years.

After the roots have been treated, they may be cut in two lengthwise and placed in the bed with the cut side down in such a manner that they are not touching. In filling up the hot bed it is best to place two or three inches of soil on the manure, then bed the roots and cover them with about two inches of soil.

Pen and ink should be used by students of shorthand, in preference to pencils.

Wauseon, Ohio.—"My daughter always had backache and leg-ache at certain periods and could not be on her feet at those times. We read about Lydia E. "GREASY PIG" LEAVES HIS MARK BEHIND.

Fred Hays, better known in police circles as "The Greasy Pig" has been visiting in the city for the past several days after an absence of several months. Fred left the city rather quickly a few days ago and since two charges have been filed against him. One was by a local optician from whom "The Pig" is said to have procured a new pair of nose glasses under false pretense. In the other case "The Pig" is said to have made friends with a guest in one of our local hotels and visited him in his hotel room. In a short while after the visit the stranger found he had lost a new pair of shoes, a pair of silk socks and three dollars in money.

"WE STAND BACK OF EVERYTHING WE SAY OR SELL"

JURORS DRINK UP THE EVIDENCE.

Philadelphia, March 13. — When a jury in court today retired to determine the guilt or innocence of a saloonkeeper, charged with selling liquor without a license, they took with them a half pint of whisky which had been offered in evidence. Nearly four hours later the judge ordered them to report. They filed in with the liquor bottle empty and the information they were unable to agree.

The jurors were discharged from further service in the court. Judge Ferguson later announced that he would recommend that the jurors' pay be withheld.

NEBRASKAN ELECTED AS HEAD OF TRANSYLVANIA.

Lexington, Ky., March 14. — The Board of Trustees of Transylvania College today elected Dr. Andrew Davidson Harmon, president of Cotner University at Bethany, Neb., as president of Transylvania.

Dr. Harmon, if he accepts, will succeed Dr. H. H. Crossfield, who resigned last June and is now president of William Wood College at Fulton, Mo. From 1897 to 1911 Dr. Harmon was pastor of the First Christian church of St. Paul, Minn.

GRIFFITH LONGS FOR KENTUCKY EATS

Detroit, March 13. — "My Old Kentucky Home" is the favorite song of David Wark Griffith. He told Detroit so today.

Thousands stormed the theater at the opening here of "Orphans of the Storm," his latest production, to see the master director and hear him tell of his triumphs. Instead he told what a fine time he had during his recent trip to Kentucky. And his month was watering, but not from what the audience thought. Griffith, king of photo-plays, whose arm is the magic wand that rebuilds Babylon, whose finger beckons 15,000 persons, was longing for more Kentucky baked chicken and mashed potatoes with plenty of gravy.
